People want to be happy and every human being in the world wants to feel happy. It is so normal because it is in our nature. There are many things which can make me happy. For example, being healthy, having a circle of friends and affectionate family can make me happy. As a matter of fact, a person should be happy to have a healthy life. In my opinion, happiness is a feeling that money cannot ever buy. I feel happy when I am with my family, friends and also with my pet. My pet is a very cute dog and playing with him is a pure joy. I feel happy nearly everyday because my dog is always ready for a play and I love spending time with my pet, my friends and family. The reason why I feel happy with them is that they love me. They enjoy spending time with me. Moreover, I feel that they respect me. That is why I feel very relaxed and happy with my beloved ones. Another thing which makes me feel happy is music. Music is something that refreshes my mind and keeps me in peace. Listening to music is pure happiness to me because I am keen on it. To sum up, there are no words that can describe the feeling of happiness properly. It is something that you can feel.
